Two children perish in Eastside apartment fire

A young mother returned home Tuesday afternoon on a "premonition that something was wrong," and found her Eastside apartment burned, one of her children dead and another, who died later, critically injured.

Mrs. Myrtis Saulsberry, 20, 2315 Hillside, said she cut short a shopping trip downtown to get back to her children, who were allegedly being watched by a neighbor.

The victims were identified as Ervin Ray Saulsberry, 4, and his sister, Twilla Ann, 3.

The two youngsters were found lying in bed covered with ceiling plaster after firemen had extinguished the flame. The boy was dead on arrival at General Hospital and the girl died a short time later.

District Fire Chief John J. Blazie said Mrs. Saulsberry stated that she had left instructions with a neighbor to check on the youngsters while she was downtown shopping for children's clothing.

According to reports, firemen did not see the children due to dense smoke until someone outside yelled that there might be children inside.

The children were found lying on the bed in one of the two bedrooms in the three-room apartment.

Marion County Deputy Coroner Edward F. Hennigar said the boy died of smoke inhalation and suffered from first, second and third-degree burns over most of his body.

He said the girl died some five hours later of third-degree burns over 90 percent of her body. It took firemen 12 minutes to put out the blaze.

The youngsters' grandmother, Mrs. Maxine Saulsberry, 41, 2605 Guilford, said she called the apartment at 12:45 p.m. to remind another child, Maxine C. Saulsberry, that it was time to return to school.

The fire was reported at 1:26 p.m., and again at 1:28 p.m.

'Crash' membership campaign launched by NAACP offices

A "crash" membership drive was launched by the five adult branches and three of the youth councils of the NAACP Monday aimed at gaining 5,000 members.

Noting that "manpower" is the key to NAACP successes, William Hardy, regional director of the youth and college division, noted that a telephone solicitation and door-to-door registration campaign will be initiated. NAACP members will be identified by membership drive identification cards.

Mr. Hardy added that the NAACP still receives 90 percent of its financial support from memberships.

A total of 200,000 new members is the aim of the national NAACP for 1967.

State Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy said he would put off sentencing until he decides on the validity of the trial, boycotted by Powell and his attorneys.

The Negro congressman, found guilty by an all-white jury last week of willfully disobeying five court orders in connection with a $164,000 libel judgment against him, faces a maximum jail sentence of 150 days and a fine of $1250.

Justice Levy asked Powell's four-man legal staff to present its arguments for dismissal in addition to a pre-trial motion made before the four walked out of court last Wednesday.

Levy had indicated to the attorneys that their presence during the trial could be considered an acceptance of its legality. They maintain the court has no jurisdiction in a criminal proceeding.

The six-year-old case involves a $164,000 in libel damages owed by the New York Democrat to Esther James, a Harlem widow whom he called during a television show a "bag woman" or a go-between used by corrupt police to collect pay offs.

Lt. Coates to attend human relations workshop at MSU

Lieutenant Chester A. Coates, liaison officer between the police department and the Indianapolis Human Rights Commission, will attend a workshop for directors of community relations units at Michigan State University Oct. 24-Nov. 5.

He and J. Griffin Crump, head of the Indianapolis Human Rights Commission, were two of 25 persons across the country invited to the workshop, sponsored by the National Center on Police and Community Relations of the School of Police Administration of the university.

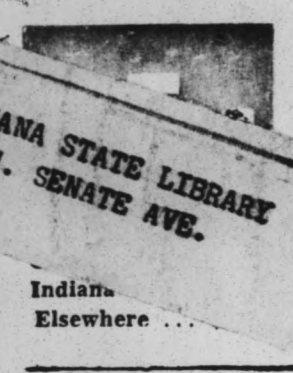

The project is being made possible by a grant from the U.S. Justice Department, office of law enforcement assistance.

The national center is conducting four specialized workshops. The one Lt. Coates will attend will bring together the Negroes Outnumber Whites:

Group Formed to Back Negro For Mayor of Gary in '67

Man held after row in Powell's office

WASHINGTON — The altercation began when a policeman, who said he thought the man was behaving in a peculiar manner, followed him to Powell's outer office and tried to get him to leave.

The officer said the man, shouting and struggling ran into the hall. The officer, with gun drawn, cornered him in an adjoining office.

A bystander said the man told the officer, "You'll have to kill me to stop me." However, no shots were fired and police said the man was not armed. A box marked poison was found on the floor after the man's capture.

The man, a Negro, was subdued by armed Capitol police, who said he was taken to a District of Columbia hospital for observation as a possible mental case. He was not identified.

Powell, who was in his office at the time, said he never saw the man and did not know what he wanted.

Antiquated laws prohibiting bi-racial marriage challenged

WASHINGTON — The Federal Supreme Court is expected to settle once and for all the legality of antiquated laws in the books of 19 states which prohibit marriage between white and Negro persons.

This action comes at a time when a Virginia interracial pair is challenging the law which was upheld earlier this year by the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals. The couple is being represented by the American Civil Liberties Union.

The protest of Virginia's statute heads a list of racial issues before the nation's highest tribunal.

Lugar among 3 new Denison U. trustees

GRANVILLE, OHIO — Three new trustees joined the Denison University Board when it met here this week. Among them was Richard G. Lugar of Indianapolis, Ind., vice-president and treasurer of Thomas L. Green and Co., Inc.

A 1954 graduate of Denison, Mr. Lugar earned his M.A. degree at Oxford University where he was a Rhodes Scholar for two years and qualified for honors.

He and his wife, the former Charlene Smeltzer, have four children.

The other new trustees were Lyman S. Ford of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Dr. William G. Bowen of Princeton, N. J.

fourth and final game of the 1966 Dodgers, 1-0. It was McNally's pitching that shutout the Dodgers on four hits, and Robinson's fourth inning homer, his second of the Series, that gave Baltimore its lone run. (See story on Page 8)

Race issue dominates election campaigns across the nation

NAACP nat'l director to address group here

NEW YORK (NPI)—America's agonizing racial problems are becoming the central issue in election campaigns across the country.

In city after city and state after state, candidates—both black and white—stand to win or lose, depending on their stand on open housing, "riot" rights in the streets, and civil rights. It seems, in fact, that there are no issues other than the race problem.

In Washington, Republican leaders vowed to press racial disorders as an election issue.

The Republican Coordinating committee said a poll disclosed that 58 per cent of the persons questioned considered civil rights to be one of the most important domestic problems. According to Ray C. Bliss, committee chairman, this was an increase from 44 per cent in a similar poll taken in June.

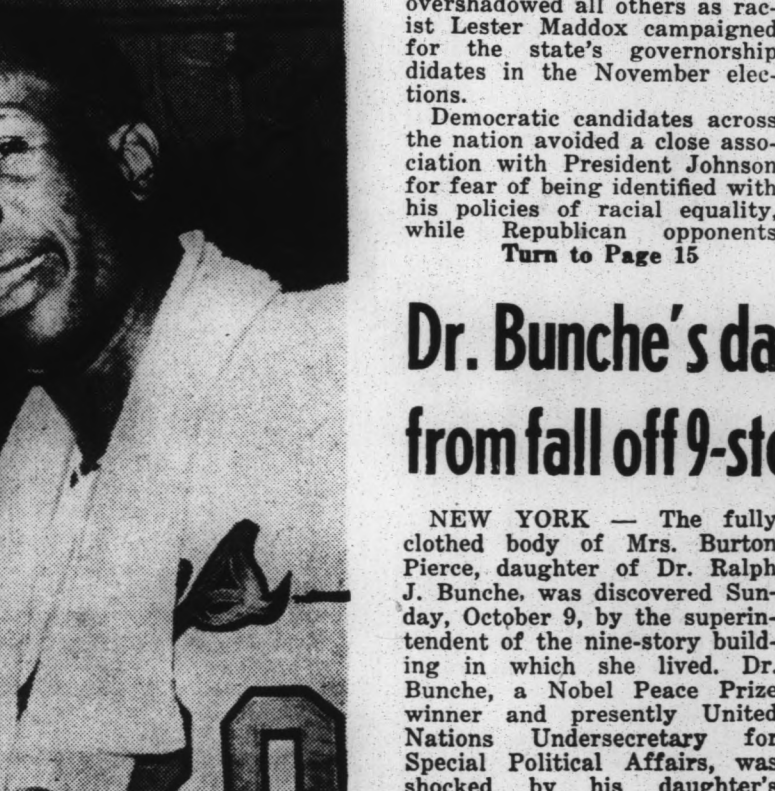

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower urged Republicans to pledge to remove the "curse" of increased crime and violence—a veiled, but usual reference to racial disorder.

At the same time, Democratic officials in Washington conceded that "riots, war, and inflation" could hurt party chances in appealing to "white backlash" votes.

In Georgia, the race issue overshadowed all others as racist Lester Maddox campaigned for the state's governorship in the November elections.

Democratic candidates across the nation avoided a close association with President Johnson for fear of being identified with his policies of racial equality, while Republican opponents

Steel City teachers back Dick Hatcher

GARY — A group of school teachers have formed a society to draft Richard G. Hatcher, councilman-at-large for mayor.

Hatcher, so far, has not committed himself as a candidate in the 1967 mayoralty primary.

But it's generally assumed he wants to be mayor someday.

RICHARD HATCHER
The teachers, headed by Jesse Bell and Mrs. Myrtle Williams, say that now is the time.

It plans not only to "publicly urge Hatcher to run for office but also to 'provide Mr. Hatcher with the moral and financial resources so necessary in assuming such a gigantic responsibility.'

If Hatcher becomes Gary's mayor, he will be the first Negro to attain that position.

Members of the Enlightened Leadership committee have "invested" $50 each for their convictions.

And they're calling on other teachers to do the same by "investing" or pledging $10 to $50.

Bell said that the teachers, as citizens and parents, are exercising their prerogatives. At the same time, they're avoiding the traditional restrictions on teachers, he said. Teachers in the past have not engaged in politics.

Bell pointed out that educators represent a "potent leadership force" in the community. Thus, they have the responsibility to themselves, their families and the community to be leaders—not just followers.

The "Enlightened Leadership" group also "takes cognizance of the present dearth of

Dr. Bunche's daughter dead from fall off 9-story building

NEW YORK — The fully clothed body of Mrs. Burton Pierce, daughter of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, was discovered Sunday, October 9, by the superintendent of the nine-story building in which she lived. Dr. Bunche, a Nobel Peace Prize winner and presently United Nations Undersecretary for Special Political Affairs, was shocked by his daughter's death.

Dr. Bunche said she was not ill and nobody knows what happened. "All I know is that she is gone," he added.

Police surmised that the 33-year-old Radcliffe College graduate either "fell or jumped" to her death from the roof of the building located in the Riverdale section. She left no note and her husband, who was at a football game at the time of his wife's death, said she was in good health and he could not account for her death.

The cause of Mrs. Pierce's death was listed by investigators as multiple fractures and hemorrhage, apparently resulting from "a fall from a good height."

The Pierces, whose apartment was located on the first floor of the apartment house, had three children — Karen, 9; John, 7, and Nina, 4. Mr. Pierce found his wife was missing after returning home and asked Karen where she was. His daughter told him that she

Diligence pays off for two detectives

Two men were being held without bond this week in the Marion County Jail on murder charges in connection with unrelated shooting incidents—one of which occurred almost three weeks ago.

Diligent police work on the part of Det. Sgt. Clarence White and Det. Harry Dunn resulted in the arrest, last Thursday, of Ronald Boyce, 23, 2458 N. Oxford, in connection with the Sept. 18 shooting of James Dabney, 24, 1314 W. 25th.

JAMES W. DABNEY
In the other shooting incident, police called to 522 E. 23rd, early Sunday morning found a 27-year-old man on the floor of the apartment who had been shot in the head.

Police arrested Willie Lee Powell, 31, of the 23rd Street address, and Bryl Swannigan, 32, 341 W. 25th, on preliminary charges of assault and battery with intent to kill.

The assault charge against Powell was dropped in favor of a murder charge after the victim, Elizabeth Redmon, 27, 2130 N. Jefferson, Apt. 3, died about 24 hours later in Marion County General Hospital. The charges against Swannigan were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Launching their investigation without a single clue and with a "phony description" supplied by the victim himself, White and Dunn traced Boyce through a nickname picked up during the interrogation of a number of suspects.

Dabney, found Sept. 18 at the corner of California and Indiana, suffering from wounds inflicted with a shotgun.

Dabney did not appear to be seriously wounded at the time of the shooting. He told investigating officers at that time that he was preparing to cross the street when he was struck by the shotgun blast and that he had not seen his assailant.

He did say, however, that he thought the shotgun may have been fired by a man with whom he had argued a few minutes before in the 800 block of Indiana Avenue.

Although he did not appear to have been injured seriously, Dabney died about two hours after the shooting in General Hospital. An autopsy revealed that one of the shotgun pellets had lodged in his heart.

In the course of their investigation White and Dunn learned that Dabney had not been shot at California and the Avenue as he had reported but that he had been shot in the 500 block of West North Street following an argument that ensued during an open-air crap game. He then ran the two blocks to intersection where he was found.

"We believe he knew who shot him when he supplied us with the phony description of an alleged mystery man," Sgt. White told The Recorder.

"Thinking he wasn't injured seriously, he must have thought he would 'take care of it himself' when he was released from the hospital," the noted detective theorized.

GOP slates $100 per couple dinner to aid campaign costs

Marion County Republicans are expecting a large turnout for their $100 per couple dinner Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Manufacturers' Building at the State Fairgrounds. Theme of the program, according to L. Keith Bolen, Marion County Republican Chairman, is "Success In '66." The principal address of the evening will be given by the Honorable Melvin R. Laird, Republican Congressman from Wisconsin.

The success of the dinner will affect greatly the ability of the party to carry on the aggressive campaign, that has been waged, into the last couple of weeks before the election. Bolen indicated that the local Republican organization has already cancelled one week of radio spots because of lack of funds.

Congressman Laird, among his other achievements, is chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee. Entertainment will be provided by the Purdue University Glee Club.

Tickets are available at Republican County Headquarters, 144 N. Delaware, Greater Indianapolis Republican Finance Committee, from Republican officials and workers, and at the door.

Registration for employment course at Attucks begins

Charles D. Walker, director of evening school, said students may enroll this week from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Registration will be accepted until 7 p.m.

1st poverty resident is elected to CAAP board

The campaigning was spirited and well participated in by candidates seeking to become the first person to be elected by poverty neighborhood residents as an affiliate of the 45-member board of directors of Community Action Against Poverty, Inc.

The first of 11 CAAP board members to be elected in this manner was Mrs. Doris Parker of 2625 Ethel, who was chosen from a field of four other candidates in an election participated in by 300 to 350 voters of CAAP's Northwest Target Area. Residents voted at Public Schools 42, 87, and 36 and Holy Angels Catholic School.

Similar elections will be held in other CAAP districts throughout the city in the spring when the appointed board members' terms expire. Voting in this manner allows actual participation by those directly involved and benefitting from the Federal War on Poverty program. According to Paul G. Barker, CAAP executive director, all adult residents

Republicans are seeking funds to support campaign

The Indiana Republican Party announced this week a major appeal for funds by disbanding "that the party is broke" and has been forced to cancel television and newspaper advertising.

State Chairman, Charles O. Hendricks, said the financial crisis occurred as State Republican candidates were ahead in the polls and when party workers were aggressively fighting for a decisive comeback victory.

"We simply exhausted our limited financial sources," said Hendricks. "Our campaign operations are not underwritten by big business or the President's $1,000 Club. We are without the automatic contributions of State patronage employees. We have to rely on the modest gift of the working men and women of Indiana. For this reason, the State Central Committee decided to go directly to the people. We think they will recognize our need and give generously."

Hendricks said, the man vehicle for the public appeal would be a letter mailed to 10,000 "working Republicans" today in every precinct in the state.

Hendricks said a massive outpouring of public contributions might enable the Party to reinstate some of the advertising phase of its campaign. "Even then," he said, "our advertising schedule will be light compared to the saturation tactics planned by our opponents."

"The Democrats," Hendricks said, "will fill the airways with another jingle that's supposed to make the voters forget the high cost of living, the war in Viet Nam and crime and violence in our streets."

Det. Sgt. William Brocius, homicide officer assigned to the case, said that he had been told by witnesses that Powell had ordered Redmon from the apartment during the argument.

Redmon at first refused to leave and Powell was telephoning the police when Redmon left. He returned a few minutes later, however, and the argument resumed, Brocius was told.

He took his gun from a nearby table drawer after Powell said Redmon threatened him. He said he fired a shot into the floor and then fired that shot political integrity and its commitments," he said.

The group plans to involve itself in direct political action as a means of finding solutions to some of Gary's problems, he noted.

The educators regard themselves as "New Breed" politicians — with Hatcher as their leader.

Hatcher, an outstanding young Gary attorney, formerly served as president of the Gary City Council. Elected council president in 1964, he became the first councilman, Negro or white, to serve as council president during his first term.

Should Hatcher decide to enter next year's mayoralty primary the position would be enhanced by the fact that Gary is among a growing list of American cities where the Negroes outnumber their white counterparts.

RUN FOR SAFETY: With one child on her back and another partly shielded by her hand, a woman runs for shelter in troubled Lagos, capital of Nigeria. This is one of the first photos out of that country since tribal warfare broke out and threatened its unity.

Can you give 'Baby Bobby' a home in which to live?

This is Bobby. He is four months old, chubby, cheerful and healthy. He likes sunshine, shadows, and smiling faces. He chortles gleefully and is enchanted by his own perfect little fingers and toes.

No one has told him yet that life, while it is many things, is seldom ever easy. No one has told him yet that life might just be even more difficult for him than it is for many other little boys. Bobby doesn't have a real mother and father who will love to teach him, and who will teach him to love. He may never know what it is to clasp in friendship a father's hand that guided him across the street at two.

He may never know the enduring love of a mother who grows dearer and more beautiful to him with the passing years. Bobby needs a father to fish with, to laugh with, and to be spanked by; he needs a mother to wipe his nose, to fix his clothes, and to kiss him good-night.

Right now Bobby can fill your heart with love, your home with joy, and your life with new meaning and purpose. Later on he can repay you in a fleeting second for all the effort it takes to rear a son — with just a crooked grin and "You're neat Dad"; by insisting, "Mom, you're the prettiest girl in the whole world"; or by hitting a home run with the bases loaded. His development quotient already shows that Bobby will be mentally superior. His natural parents, who have decided they just can't keep their sons, are both college students who have genetically endowed him with promising characteristics.

This is the history of one child. There are others equally as attractive as Bobby. There are no money charges to adopt a child through the Marion County Department of Welfare. If you would like to find out how to legally adopt Bobby, phone 633-3947, or write Marion County D.P.W., 1501 City-County Building, Indianapolis.

Negro-controlled banks seen increasing in U.S.

W. R. HUDGINS
... Freedom Nat'l proxy

Negroes have special problems in banking, and this will undoubtedly give rise to more Negro-controlled banks in the future, in the opinion of William R. Hudgins. He is president and a founder of Freedom National Bank of Harlem, in New York.

In a recent interview Hudgins said:

"Often Negroes who are good risks are unable to get loans from white-controlled banks. This is a part racial and part a lack of understanding of the part of the bank."

"There is a crying need for banks that understand the problems of the Negro community, and there will be many Negro-controlled institutions founded in the future."

Already, Hudgins pointed out, there are 25 Negro-controlled banks in the United States, holding deposits of $200 million.

"They are located in the South and the Southwest," he said, "but I expect them to be established in the North in the near future."

Hudgins said the $200-million presently in the institutions does "not command any money power by comparison to white banks."

The Freedom National Bank

was founded in Harlem less than two years ago, Hudgins said. It was started with capital of $1.5 million. The bank has 1200 stockholders, 65 percent of them Negroes.

"We loaned him the money," Hudgins said. "But we insisted that he cut his own salary, keep a perpetual paid inventory of $12,000 worth of stock and place five of his profits in escrow against future difficulty."

The customer was required also to have his books checked monthly by a certified public accountant.

"Today that man does not have to put the five percent away because we feel he has enough money in his account to prevent his future uncertainty," Hudgins said. "His salary has been restored to original."

Hudgins admits that, in this case the bank stepped into the

Powell stripped of powers by House committee he heads

WASHINGTON—The House Education and Labor Committee voted last week to reduce the power of its controversial chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.)

Rep. Dave Martin, (R-Neb.) the first member to emerge from the closed session, said the vote was 27 to 1 with three members voting present. He said Powell was present.

The race action, initiated by the veteran Harlem congressman's own Democratic colleagues, left Powell as chairman but with sharply curtailed authority over committee operations.

The vote came after a week of bitter internal struggling over the issue of disciplining

Powell for what a majority of 31 committee members regarded as abusive use of a chairman's traditional powers.

The committee adopted a new set of rules which would remove from the power to delay action on bills approved by the committee; to hire and fire committee staff members at will, and to dispense committee funds.

Brooke tires of 1st Negro label in Senate campaign

BOSTON — Republican Attorney General Edward W. Brooke says he is "very tired" of the "First Negro" label which has been splashed across his campaign for the U. S. Senate.

"I do, yes, I do get ...very tired of being called the first Negro this or the highest Negro that," he says.

But try as he might, Brooke cannot avoid some basic facts of his campaign against Democratic former Gov. Endicott Peabody.

The Massachusetts Attorney General is the highest elected Negro official in the Nation. And if victorious in November, he would be the first Negro to serve in the Senate since Reconstruction.

Brooke, who has a Caucasian wife, says his race bothers his entire campaign approach.

"It clouds my purpose for running, even my programs," he said recently. "It seems to take precedence over the candidates themselves."

"I discuss civil rights as an issue, that's all. It's just like John F. Kennedy had trouble with his religion. And if I'm

UNCF to receive first report on book-o-rama

The Key Women of the Special Project will meet at the home of Chairman, Mrs. Madeline McCall, 2440 Boulevard Place, on October 14th at 7:30 p.m.

Interest is built around the need to keep the libraries of the 33 member colleges adequately supplied. Modern research material must be constantly supplemented.

The major spring drive for UNCF capital funds does not try to meet this need.

The Women's Special Project Committee in previous years has conducted a benefit bridge party to provide funds for special need of the colleges. This year the "bonus" for the gift of one book is admission to hear the Fisk Jubilee Singers, in concert, Sunday, December 4th at Broadway Methodist Church.

Patrons who have promised the Captains and Solicitors, of the Women's Committee, gifts for the libraries are urged to make their contributions as soon as possible.

Monday night regular meeting was highlighted by the attendance of the FAC Male Chorus. The group was formerly the King's Male Chorus. FAC members are proud that the group is now to be known as the FAC Male Chorus. They have been affiliated with the organization for many years. When they were introduced they received a vigorous round of applause. The group's first appearance under their new name will be on November 11th, when they sing for the 25th Anniversary Observance.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Attucks homecoming to mark dedication of new stadium

Crispus Attucks High School's Tigers were to play their first home game in their new stadium Friday, Oct. 14, when they were to meet the Harry E. Wood High School Woodchucks during a homecoming game at 3 p.m.

Dedication of the new $86,000 stadium, which contains 3,000 green and gold bleacher seats, was to be made at the close of a pep session set in the Attucks gym at 2 p.m. or in the stadium before the game. Taking part in the dedication ceremony were to be Alexander Moore, principal; George F. Otheimer, superintendent of schools, and James C. Benson, Attucks senior and the Student Council president.

The new football field is the culmination of a three-year building program which has included a new gymnasium, library, and classrooms, and the new stadium.

Designed by Foster Engineering, the stadium is built of concrete and is topped by an enclosed press box with facilities for 15, which was constructed by the Attucks carpentry class.

Under discussion for many years, the field was built through the efforts of Crispus Attucks Development Inc., a holding company which solicited contributions from all over the community, then borrowed the rest of the money.

The development company entered into an agreement with the Board of School Commissioners, which will lease the stadium from the company for six years at $8,000 a year, paying back the indebtedness. At the end of that period, ownership of the stadium will revert to the school board. The arrangement is the same under which Arlington and Howe have completed their stadiums the last year.

Members of Crispus Attucks Development, Inc., included Mr. Moore, president; Thomas Harding, Shortridge teacher, vice-president; Charles Walton, attorney, secretary; Nathaniel Gore, Christ Church Cathedral, treasurer; and Charles Goodwin, Eli Lilly; Charles Walker, attorney and head of the Attucks Evening Division, was fund drive campaign chairman.

Miss. farmers form machinery co-operative

A small group of farmers in Hinds County, Miss., are riding the crest of progress in a co-operative venture that gives them time to develop new enterprises.

Members of the Hinds Farm Service Association in Raymond, Miss., are helping themselves with a farm machinery cooperative that saves both time and labor.

Their self-help program was given a substantial boost last year through a new source of loan funds and an already operating cooperative that is sharing with them, under a management contract basis, the business lessons it has learned.

Thirty Negro farmers formed the Association and obtained a loan from the Office of Economic Opportunity funds handled through the Farmers Home Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They used the funds to lease an equipment shed and to buy machinery to plant, cultivate, and harvest cotton, soybean and other crops.

The farmers—since increased to 90—operate the machines on their own land. Their 25 pieces of machinery include a combine, 2 cotton pickers, a pick-up truck, 3 tractors, a planter, plows, harrows and 6 trailers.

Besides increasing the efficiency and profit of farm operations, the machinery has cut down working time and enabled the farmers to earn more through non-farm employment.

The Hinds Farm Service Association was the first of its kind in the State. Following its formation it contracted with the Hinds County Co-op of Raymond to manage its program. The contract provides the farmers with the services of business management for their cooperative along with expert technical advice about proper varieties, fertilizers, and insect control methods.

The farmers launched their program in early 1965 after they became concerned about their unharvested 1964 crops. They realized that unless some changes were made before the 1965 crops were started production and harvesting costs could force them out of business.

The OEO loan they obtained amounted to $93,700 at 4 1/2 percent interest. In its half-year of operation during 1965, the cooperative accumulated a savings, paid its operating expenses, and met a first installment of $1,900 on its loan.

Association members pay set prices for various services, such as $8 an hour for planting and cultivating, $10 an hour for pastures, 50 cents a bushel for disking, $8 an hour for spraying combine work on soybeans, and

THE MAN FROM NEWARK:
The wolves are right at the heels of handsome and debonair, and swashbuckling (I could be white if I wanted to) Adam Clayton Powell, astute politician and dynamic Congressman-preacher from Harlem in the Big Apple, where he has been elected eleven times by the women folk, who just love and adore the so-called play-boy (by ofay press) playboy, who right now is being shorn of his great power as chairman of one of the most important committees in Congress (Education and Labor Committee) which handles billions of dollars yearly. Tis said by the press that Powell took this action like a real CHAMP, praising the committee for doin' so. This no doubt is part of the price a man pays for being GOOD-LOOKING, SUAVE, DEBONAIRE, SWASHBUCKLING (and almost white) and a believer in "BLACK POW-ER." His foes just couldn't dig the action. What with blond secretaries accompanying him on trips abroad, was just too much for certain southerners to stomach. So naturally he had to be had. (dig?)

The irony of the Powell matter is that Congressman Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., the man who started this purge is the very same man Powell appointed as head of a subcommittee. A news item 'other day said that pressure was being put on Gibbons by folks back home, who wanted him about having a Negro boss up in Washington. Of course Gibbons denies Powell's charges that he doesn't like Negroes. He says he was in Washington voting for civil rights when Adam was busy hooking sailfish in the Bahamas. Powell has been called the best chairman on the Hill by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. Let's see what's going to happen to the many chairmen of committees similar to Powell. Will they be stripped of their power, too?

ON THE NEWS FRONT: Republicans in Georgia (those who voted for Goldwater) voted for Lester Maddox, extremist, racist, and the man seen on TV in front of his restaurant (lillywhite) in Atlanta with a pistol in his hand. Atlanta Negroes off his property (they just wanted to integrate his eatery) and calling for more pick-axes for his friends, no doubt represents the so-called white backlash, who just can't stomach the Johnson administration. Even the Mayor of Atlanta deplored the fact that such an incompetent and race-hater could be nominated in Georgia over a man like Former Governor Ellis Arnall. It would be interesting to know how many Negroes voted for segregationist Maddox? . . . a man with no previous experience in government . . . only his hatred for Negroes.

When will some brilliant mind try to discover the reason for so much hatred in the south and north against Negroes. In the north it is more the first and second generation of whites, many of whom came from countries that were under the heel of Hitler . . . and many American Negroes lost their lives in World War I fighting for freedom for these people, those from eastern Europe.

IN CHICAGO the oles, Slavs, Hungarians and Italians were bitter in their attack on Negro marchers in Cicero. Wonder if they ever think of those black boys who fought in World War I so that they and their parents could enjoy FREEDOM from Tyranny and persecution. And this is their way of saying THANKS!

And believe it or not I can't dig why the white southerner hates the Negro so strongly. What has the Negro done to him? He helped to cut down the trees, build the roads, plough the fields, nurse the children, wash and iron for them plus giving their men folk their black Negro women. Now how do you hate a person who has been so nice to you? While they were off fighting a Civil War to keep the black man in slavery . . . black men were protecting his wife and children. Do you hate a person for doin' this? Or is it the FEAR of having their true identity discovered? Have you looked real good at some of the faces in those southern mobs? If you have I know you have seen closely resembled faces among Negroes. Could their be some kindred here?

member keeping company with another real light and beautiful girl who worked in Forest Hills, a suburb of Richmond. And one night while waiting for her at the car stop, a white policeman came up on horseback (this was an exclusive neighborhood and only Negroes who worked there were permitted in the area after dark) and wanted to know what I was doing. I told him I was waiting for the girl who worked for Mrs. So and So. He told me that all the girls who worked out there belong to them, and I had better catch the next car to town. Which I did. And again we met a very lovely girl in Cincinnati who told us her father was white in Mississippi and she had visited him quite often before leavin' Mississippi. So we wonder what becomes of these people's kindfolk. Most of them MUST be in the white race.

And another time in Springfield, Ohio, while walking down the street with a lovely young half-white lady a finely dressed white woman stopped us and called the young lady off to one side for a short conversation. When she came back to me she said the lady was her relative and wanted to know why she picked such dark Company. This lady and even in Philadelphia with other beautiful (almost white) colored women. Now can it be that some of those people who are so bitter in their attacks against Negroes are related in some way to some of the families of the girls mentioned above. Tis said that Governor Huey Long once told some friends that he could serve breakfast to every WHITE man in Louisiana the next morning. Now you take it from there.

HISTORY doesn't tell us of any yellow Negroes brought over from HISTORY doesn't tell us of any Africa as slaves for the American white man. And what black woman would refuse to come to a white man's bedroom when asked. He mated black men and women to suit his pocketbook. Always looking for young healthy bucks to work his plantation. No, they didn't marry. They were put together by the master. So when you hear ofays on the TV talking about Negroes believe in living in adultery, they evidently don't read their history books. They were taught this way of living by the white man. There is nothing wrong with the Negro . . . but there is a h---l of a lot wrong with the whites. Even here in Indianapolis we know of colored girls having babies by ofays. So when those grays were beating up on those children as they tried to enter schools in Grenada, Miss., who knows but that they were beating up on some of their relatives from the cullid side of the family. We have read about certain southern senators having two families, one cullid and one white . . . and they bragged about taking care of their half-white offspring, even sending them to northern colleges.

So, it seems to me the white man in certain areas of this country has got to straighten up and fly right, because who knows, he just might be my long lost cousin. (selah)

Savannah State College gets govt. grant totaling more than $25,000

Research Contract Awarded to Savannah State College
The U. S. Department of Agriculture has awarded a $25,130 contract to Savannah State College, Savannah, Ga., to conduct basic research on constituents responsible for discoloring cottonseed oil.

Excessive color lowers the quality of as much as 25 percent of the 2 billion pounds of cottonseed oil produced annually. Causing the color is a cottonseed pigment, gossypol, that becomes chemically locked in the crude oil during storage and cannot be adequately removed by present commercial procedures.

The 2 1/2-year project, to be directed by Dr. Charles Pratt of Savannah State College is sponsored by the Southern Utilization Research Laboratory, New Orleans, of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Under the contract, Georgia scientists will chemically react gossypol with constituents of cottonseed oil and study the resulting products. An understanding of the nature of the reaction products should lead to the development of an effective means for removing excessive color from the oil. This, in turn, should make it possible to use cottonseed oil in such products as high-quality shortening.

Five games Saturday to open NBA season

The National Basketball Association will open its season Saturday night with the same old question: Will the Boston Celtics again win the championship?

The Celtics, with Bill Russell

riors at home in one of Saturday's five opening games. In the others, New York, with its All-American rookie Cazzie Russell, plays at Philadelphia, Los Angeles at Baltimore, Detroit at Cincinnati and Chicago at St. Louis.

Philadelphia, with big Wilt Chamberlain, appeared to have ended Boston's reign as champion last year when they beat the Celtics for the Eastern Division title by one game with 55 victories and 25 defeats while Boston finished the regular season at 54-26.

But the Celtics bounced back to whip the 76ers in the Eastern Division playoffs, then defeated Los Angeles, the Western Division victors, in the championship playoff for their eighth straight NBA title and ninth in 10 years.

Red Auerbach then retired as coach to become vice-president and general manager and later named Russell to succeed him as coach.

There are several other new coaches as the association opens its 21st season, now an expanded 10-team circuit with the addition of the Chicago Bulls.

ALEX HANNUM, former San Francisco coach replaced Dolph Schayes as Philadelphia mentor after the 76ers had been beaten by the Celtics in the playoffs. Mike Farmer is now at Baltimore. Bill Sharman succeeded Hannum at San Francisco while the experienced Johnny Kerr will direct Chicago. In addition, Dick McGuire will be starting his first full season as coach of the New York Knicks.

Until the Celtics actually lose out they are favored to go all the way again. Philadelphia and Cincinnati are expected to be strong contenders in the East while Los Angeles again is favored to beat out St. Louis and San Francisco for the Western title.

Walter Kennedy, NBA commissioner, looks for one of the league's best seasons with the addition of many star rookies and various trades making for lively competition.

Russell, Michigan's All-American and the 1965 college basketball star, said he was "totally satisfied" with his first season as coach.

The wonderful world of SPORTS

Frank Robinson is totally satisfied

BALTIMORE — Frank Robinson, the hitting hero of Baltimore's World Series triumph, acknowledged Sunday that he had accomplished his two goals: wiping out the "old-man" and "bad-guy" labels pinned on him. "I've been playing this season since Dec. 9," said Robinson, who learned on that day that he had been traded to the Orioles by the Cincinnati Reds. "I wanted to have a good year especially to show the people in the front office there that I wasn't washed up, and I wanted to show them by having a good year."

Robinson accomplished that during the regular season by becoming the first player in a decade to win the triple crown. And he emphasized his claims in the World Series, hitting a homer in the first game and then in the final game.

"It's not just what I did, but winning," Robinson stated. "I would have felt good without winning but not as good. Winning makes it better."

"Now it's all gone. Next year I don't have to show Mr. De Witt (the Cincinnati owner). I don't have to show him what I can do again. As far as that's concerned, it's gone."

Also gone, he feels strongly, is the bad guy reputation he has been carrying around since 1960, when he had a run-in with Eddie Matthews of the Milwaukee Braves.

"Over there (in the National League) they said I had to be mad to play good baseball," Robinson explained. "It really began when I had that run-in with Matthews in 1960."

And, after saying he preferred not to repeat it, he continued:

"I hit a ball on the fists and it rolled to the bull pen. When I hit second the ball was still kicking around so I started for third. Matthews took the throw in the baseline, and I slid."

"I guess he figured I slid unnecessarily hard. I said I can't wait for him to tag me. And then we tangled."

Both threw punches, and Robinson leaves no doubt he knows who the loser was in the exchange.

"It was the only fight I ever had," he said. "I lost. My left eye was almost completely closed. That was enough for me."

Dodgers outplayed on all fronts as Orioles take four in a row

BALTIMORE — The world champion Baltimore Orioles were supposed to have the hitting and little pitching, while the Los Angeles Dodgers were supposed to have the pitching and little hitting.

And the odds makers figured the American League would lose the series for the sixth time in the last eight years. It just didn't turn out that way.

The Orioles came up with the most stellar pitching in series history, and that phase, along with the Dodgers' weak .142 batting average and poor pitching, and the Orioles' tremendous power, accounted for the Bird's four-game sweep of the 1966 World Series.

All of it came about Sunday when Frank Robinson combined with stocky southpaw Dave McNally to give the Orioles a 1-0 victory over the Dodgers to wrap it up.

It had to be the same story Saturday when Paul Blair and righthander Wally Bunker teamed for a 1-0 win.

Those pitching performances of the 23-year-old McNally, the 21-year-old Bunker, 20-year-old Jim Palmer and veteran Drabowsky set series hurling history.

For 33 straight games, going back to the first series game in Los Angeles last Wednesday, they combined their talents to turn back the Dodgers without a run.

The Dodgers scored only two runs in the four games, both of them coming in the first game, and one of them when the Oriole pitchers walked four men in a row. So the Dodgers scored only one run in 36 innings on their own hitting.

The old mark for series shut-out pitching was 28 innings, set by the New York Giants against the Philadelphia Athletics in 1905.

"We've known for two years we lacked power," said Manager Walt Alston. "But in those two years we won two National League pennants and a World Series. It's just unfortunate we went four games in a row without hitting a lick."

"We didn't hit. It's as simple as that."

It was the first series sweep since the Dodgers did it against the Yankees in 1963.

In the Dodger dressing room after the fourth and deciding game, the general feeling was one of embarrassment, but not shame.

"I'm embarrassed, but I'm not ashamed," declared Maury Wills, who collected only one hit in the four games against the Orioles.

"I can't say enough nice things about all their pitching, but the reason we got beat was because we weren't hitting."

The Baltimore victory was only the fourth 1-0 series game in history decided by a home run.

Before Saturday, it was Tommy Henrich of the Yankees against the old Brooklyn Dodgers back in 1949. So the Dodgers, past and present, have been victims of three of them.

The only one they were not involved in was in 1923 when Casey Stengel of the old New York Giants hit one against the Yankees.

STATE'S TOP SCORER: Purdue University's Perry Williams, a 195-pound sophomore from Cincinnati, is the state's leading scorer, according to statistics released this week. Williams, a fullback, had a total of 54 points in four games on nine TDs. His closest rival is John May of Wabash with 31 points in four games. The ninth-ranked Boilermakers will meet Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Nobody blaming Davis for errors that lost 2nd game

Nobody Blaming sports LOS ANGELES — "Ron, Ron, your ball." I hesitated just the fraction of a second when I saw Willie coming on out of the corner of my eye. That did it," said Ron Fairley.

Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, added his views.

"About this time of the year," he explained, "a fly ball is difficult to catch. I'd pinpoint the time between 1:45 to 2:30 p.m. I know Blair (Baltimore center fielder) didn't make any errors, but the ball came down at a different angle."

"It's true," said Davis quietly. "I hit the bad angle twice. I know this about me—I'm not a bad outfielder. I'm a good outfielder. Circumstance got me."

The crowd booed Davis bitterly after the nightmarish fifth inning. The mixup between Davis and Fairley in the sixth found Davis again the target of the crowd's wrath. As he came off the field in the sixth, the boos broke like a clap of thunder. He mockingly raised his hat as he got to the dugout.

Davis came to bat in that inning and grounded out. It was

South Bend native leads Canadian baseball team

An American-born Negro baseball player, imported by Canada to play with the Melville Millionaires in 1963, has sparked the Southern Saskatchewan League team to a top spot as best hitting baseball group in the League.

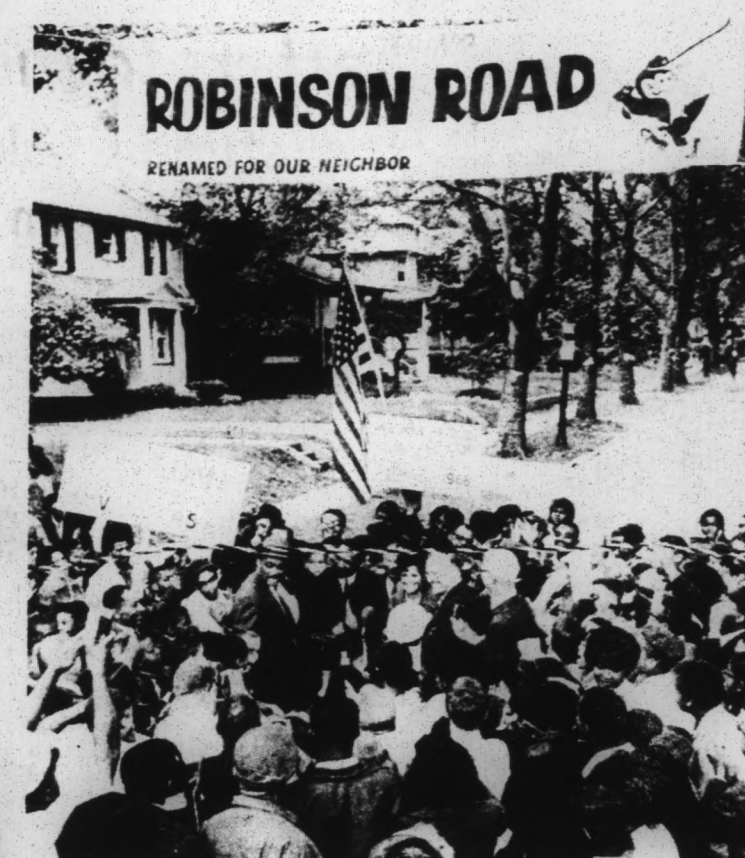

Ira McKnight, 29, of South Bend, Ind., serving as catcher-coach for the team, has earned for himself a reputation as the Millionaires' most valuable player. Between seasons he makes his home with his wife, Ann, in the Southmoor hotel, Chicago.

In the four seasons he has been with the Melville diamond aces, McKnight has chalked up a spectacular record in Canadian baseball sports annals. He went to the Millionaires from the Kansas City Monarchs and made his catcher-coach debut at the beginning of the 1966 season.

ROBINSON ROAD IS THE NAME: Frank Robinson and his family listen to Mayor Theo R. McKeldin and friends of the family as they dedicate recently renamed Robinson Road. Robinson went to Baltimore in a trade last year.

In May, he led his team to a 13-4 victory over the highly-touted Swift Current Indians, defending champions of the Canadian League. McKnight's batting averages before his promotion were a powerful .387, .316 and .359 successively.

The Melville Advance, a local Canadian newspaper, has been lavish in its praise of the stocky star who is modestly proud of playing catcher while the veteran Satchel Paige was pitcher for the Millionaires.

"All our team needed to turn it into a hard-hitting club was a little bit of encouragement," he said with a quiet smile. And, that is just what McKnight proceeded to do.

Last season he pumped new blood into the team with his

BALTIMORE NAMES STREET IN HONOR OF FRANK ROBINSON

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The City of Baltimore has honored Frank Robinson, the ex-National League star who sparked the Baltimore Orioles to their first pennant ever, by naming a street in his honor.

In a ceremony attended by Robinson's neighbors, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin renamed Cedardale Road, Robinson Road, in honor of the major league's first triple crown champion in 10 years. Robinson won the triple crown by winning the American League batting (.316), home run (49) and runs-batted-in (122) titles.

Potential of Negro power still untapped

There are large "ifs" in the way of Negro electoral power this election year.

In the South Negroes are still apprehensive that efforts to register and vote will bring retaliations by whites. In the North, and Indianapolis is a prime example, apathy is the large deterrent.

The object of Negro-area vote programs is to boost registration for the November elections. The efforts here have come from predominantly Democratic groups—since the last session of the legislature authorized door-to-door registration.

United States Census Bureau statistics show that Negroes have the numerical power to bring about political change in Indianapolis as well as a number of other metropolitan areas, if they can organize into political groups willing to form alliances with white groups.

In Indiana—Gary and Indianapolis in particular—the Negro vote is extremely important, especially in municipal elections.

Marion County Democratic Chairman James W. Beatty has upwards of 2,000 workers registering voters. Negroes are delighted to register, where poor whites refuse, Beatty has said.

But, the politicians concede, a large gap remains between registering Negroes and overcoming the apathy in getting the Negroes to the polls on November 8.

Negroes must realize that, regardless of their political convictions, they must go to the polls next month if we are to push back the tide of "backlash" vote which has become disturbingly apparent in the recent primary elections.

The Negro, must here and elsewhere, must demonstrate to the nation that he has declared war on second-class citizenship—through the ballot box.

'Blacklash' uses riots as excuse for denying rights

The slogan "black power" with the accompanying rise of the "white backlash" has caused a disaffection among white liberals for the Negro cause of equality. "The liberals themselves are subject to some of the fears; they are confused and dismayed by the split in the Negro community and they do not know where the civil rights movement should go from here." (New York Times, Sunday 10-2-66).

Men in high places, on both sides of the color line, from President Johnson to President Martin D. Jenkins of Morgan State College (Maryland), vigorously condemn the "black power" slogan as detrimental to the civil rights movement. Despite the many and varied interpretations given to it, the one that is most pronounced is that "black power" is "black racism" as opposed to "white racism". Dr. Jenkins points out that "black racism" is no more palatable than "white racism".

New York's Republican Senator Jacob Javits thinks that "the white resistance against riots and 'black power' sloganizing was responsible for the failure of the civil rights bill, and is now threatening to extend to retrogression in enforcing laws already on the books."

All of the foregoing is correct. The "white backlash" is a vigorous foe against Negroes enjoying their rights as American citizens. These seek to use the riots as an excuse for denying Negroes their American citizenship rights. They blame Negroes by slowing down the pace toward the goal of equality. They refuse to remember that for more than 100 years the government of the United States of America neglected to enforce the laws which guaranteed equality to Negro citizens. Racial prejudice, not riots, is responsible for the "white backlash."

Real power is unity

(From Afro-American)

After the 1954 Supreme Court Decision on schools and particularly since the 1964 Civil Rights Bill and 1965 Voting Civil Rights Bill, confusion plus confusion has trod the path of the civil rights movement. New organizations have joined the fight, new leaders have been developed, and some old organizations have altered their programs, switched their approach, initiated new tactics and adopted new slogans.

Notwithstanding all this operational mixture, the militancy or non-militancy of the slogans, the sober or rash approach to the issues, one thing has remained steadfast. All have and are moving toward one goal—freedom for America's 20,000 colored citizens elusive as it may be.

No matter how the plea for progress is phrased by CORE, SNCC, NAACP, Urban League, SCLC or Labor, the ultimate goal, as we see it, is the same. Confusion arises in the paths they take to reach this seemingly unattainable goal and by the interpretation of some of the organizations dramatic activities.

Be that as it may, it is clear that disunity is not going to help the movement. Only in unity will there be real power, and inasmuch as these various civil rights groups have a common goal, it is unwise for them not to come together for some common understanding of how the goal can be reached.

There was unity in "The March" (August 28, 1963), the largest demonstration of its kind in American history. Yet there has been disunity in movement ever since and the only real gains have come on the legislative level. As we recall, 'The March' was staged because colored citizens did not have the power to stir the white power structure on the Civil Rights Bill. 'The March' demonstrated that we do have such power if used massively and correctly. There is little doubt that in unity there is strength. Confusion only decreases power.

Economic gains since the historic march are depressing and freedom has come only in tidbits. Yet there is still time for massive action, a united program demanding wholesale and firm effective use of the combined strength of the various organizations fighting for civil rights.

If we are to overcome, the power must be united.

A new look at the draft

by WHITNEY M. JOUNG Jr.

One thing about which everyone in this nation agrees is that the draft is not working properly. Some men are never drafted because their occupations are exempt or because they have remained in school. Others are drafted at times which cause the greatest personal hardship. Still others are drafted because their local plans currently spoken of in the effort to make the draft work better. All of them provide for remedial training for the victims of poverty. All of them recognize that the vast resources and proven capabilities of the armed forces should be used to counter the effects of bad health and bad education.

That the Army is proposed as a vehicle of this rehabilitation is an indictment of our civilian institutions, especially the schools. It is no secret that Negro children are being short-changed. Ninety percent of them attend segregated schools, most with poor textbooks, indifferent teachers, and run-down buildings. The dropout is often a "pushout"—pushed out of a school system which does not educate him, does not attempt to motivate him, does not realistically prepare him for life in today's world.

Recent government figures show the correlation between bad education and failure in the draft test. The states which had the highest pupil-teacher ratios and spent the least money on their schools, were the states with the highest number of draft rejects white and Negro. In the nation as a whole, Negroes, subject to the worst schools and educational practices had far higher rejection rates, as could be expected under those conditions.

It is a sad commentary on our school system that the Army is looked to as an agency that can do a better job of education.

board interprets the rules differently from the one in the next county. Because of this, increasing attention has been given to changing the system of selective service.

One popular suggestion is for a nationwide lottery which would call men up at an earlier age, before they start college or start a family. When a fellow's number comes up, he would go into the army. This would eliminate inequities caused by rules and exemptions and would place everyone in the same boat—pure chance would rule. Another proposal is for universal military training.

This would mean that all men would be drafted and undergo basic military training at age 18. For those who are presently rejected because they can't meet the mental and health standards set by the army, there would be remedial training to bring them up to par. Since the regular army could only use some of these men, there would be a lottery to determine who goes into the army and who goes into a National Service Corps.

This Corps would then be available to perform useful service to the nation in a variety of ways. They could work in areas of foreign assistance like the Peace Corps, and on the domestic front as well, performing long neglected conservation work and work on badly needed projects to make over our deteriorating slums and cities. The concept of service to the nation could unleash the idealism of our youth and their desire to be of service to their fellow-man. It would establish the principle that we owe more to our nation than uniformed military service.

Still another plan calls for a standard test for all men of 18. Those who pass would be subject to military service, and would be chosen by lottery. Those who fail would be given the opportunity to enter a special program of remedial training which would bring them up to standard. They then would be returned to the pool of draftable men to take their chances in the lottery.

Part of the model for this proposal is a new program announced by Secretary of Defense McNamara and scheduled to go into effect shortly. Under this program, a number of men who can't measure up to present Army standards would be drafted and given remedial training. Thus, the effects of poverty—illiteracy and bad health—would be treated, though at the cost of two years of Army service.

These are just a few of the

Re: A. Ramsey column of Oct. 1

Dear Mr. Ramsey,

As a citizen of Indianapolis and, I believe, somewhat versed in its problems, I cannot look upon your column concerning Martin Luther King (October 1) with much more than contempt.

Possibly the query should be stated a little differently. In lieu of the fact that Dr. King is unneeded or unwanted, as the case may be, what do you propose to do to solve some of the unjust and discriminatory practices in Indianapolis?

While it may or may not be true that we need a "Moses" to lead us out of the bondage of racism" this can neither explain nor justify our seemingly present inertia. Apparently the problem lay somewhere amidst our so-called Negro leadership in the capital city.

You have stated time and again that we must seek adequate housing accommodations, jobs, and schools I'm sure you'll get more mileage out of it in future columns, but the city's Negro citizenry can be relieved to know that no one has challenged you to take constructive action on these loose and vacuous statements.

So what have you and your bourgeois buddies done for the ghettoized Negro? You've taken turns thrusting your thumbs into the hole in the dike, so that the waves of Negro discontent don't spew forth and make whitey red-faced.

So what have you personally ever fought for? Yes, a home away from the ghetto Negro which imparted upon you a mentality even more averse to their needs.

As long as you are content with your middle-class soul, you can never effectively confront the problems of our city, which are the problems of the poor—Negro and white alike. Under these circumstances it seems strange that Negro Indianapolis has allowed you to mouth so much of your trivia for such a long time.

I can commend you however for speaking in terms of what "we" must do. It gives you sort of a non-committal position, wouldn't you say?

Possibly we don't need a Martin Luther King in Indianapolis, Andrew, and frankly I'm not quite sure what we do need. I only commit myself insofar as to say we don't need more Andrew Ramseys.

Reader takes Sen. Dirksen to task for rights bill position

On September 17 an article was printed, ((Well Earned Failure)), concerning legislation on the Civil Rights Bill. I do not agree with the author or Sen. Everett Dirksen.

The Negro was freed from slavery to fight on the battlefield and lost his life the same as the ancestors of the author and Sen. Dirksen. They have fought in every war since.

The more they fight, the less freedom they have. From what the newspapers print, 30 to 40% of our forces in Vietnam are Negroes. It seems that they are being exterminated because this is a high percentage according to the Negro population in the U.S. and should be called the "Negro War."

I cannot understand how our Negro soldiers can sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty." While he is giving his life, his children are being bombed while attending Sunday School and while sleeping in their homes. They are unable to attend school in certain areas or live where they would like.

In Mississippi the children were beaten with chains and axe handles because they were seeking an education. The parents in Mississippi are working for $3.00 a day and the last hired, first fired. In Florida their jobs are being taken by the Cuban exiles that were brought there. This is the hardship and brutality

VOICE FROM THE GALLERY

Kivie Kaplan, new NAACP prexy is coming to town

by ANDREW W. RAMSEY

One of the most remarkable men of our times is scheduled to visit Indianapolis early in November. Exceedingly wealthy and retired from his Boston enterprises, Kivie Kaplan is a human dynamo who spends his time, energy and money unstintingly in the fight for freedom. He is a Jew who realizes that the age-long persecution of the Jews has many similarities to the current American debasement of the Negro and that Jews have a stake in the Negroes' fight for human dignity.

Mr. Kaplan, who was elected by a unanimous vote of the National Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as president of the civil rights organization has long been identified with the work of the Association.

His greatest contribution has been in his leadership of the NAACP's Life Membership drive. He proposed the establishment of the Life Membership Committee in 1953 and accepted the chairmanship of it. At that time there were only 221 Life members despite the fact that the $500 Life Membership category had been established in 1927. By the end of 1965, under his capable leadership the number of Life Members had passed the 18,000 mark and was growing. During the crucial years of the early sixties and today the income from the Life Membership program has been all that has prevented the NAACP from going broke.

Mr. Kaplan practices what he preaches. Not only does he have a Life Membership, he has several and every member of his family is at least once a Life Member of the NAACP. And he has not limited his personal sales to himself and members of his family, he has enrolled his friends and associates without regard to color in the program. He travels extensively in the United States and abroad and wherever he goes he talks and sells Life Memberships.

Although he has sold and promoted the sales of life memberships to Jews and Gentiles wherever he goes, he takes pride in the fact that the majority of Life Memberships are subscribed to and paid by Negro individuals and organizations.

He has long stressed the fact that many upper middle class Negroes, who want to do something for the freedom movement are adverse to marching and demonstrating and taking out a Life Membership allows them to play a significant role in the rights revolution.

It should be stressed that it was not solely because of his fund raising ability that he was chosen as the fourth president of the 67 year old NAACP. It was due recognition of his unwavering commitment to the NAACP and its program, tactics and objectives.

He follows a distinguished trio of predecessors: Morefield Storey, who was one time secretary to the great abolitionist Charles Sumner; Prof. J. E. Spingarn, the donor of the Spingarn medal and his brother Arthur B., distinguished civil rights lawyer.

Kivie Kaplan is coming to Indianapolis, November 5 at the invitation of the Life Membership Club of the local NAACP to put the Hoosier capitol on the map in the civil rights fight. Dr. George Rawls, Dr. Latham Adams, Mr. Andrew Foster and other professional, civic and business leaders who compose and direct the Life Membership Club are expecting to have a highly successful freedom fund banquet at the ISTA Building on that occasion.

Business, cultural, civic religious and social leaders in the community have been invited to the fund raising dinner.

Mr. Kaplan will also entertain the Jewish leaders of the city at a luncheon during his stay in the city.

His coming will also coincide with the chartering of the five new branches of the NAACP in Indianapolis.

He is expected to survey our local situation and make recommendations for the successful prosecution of the war for decency in our community.

NAACP leaders and members in Indianapolis welcome to the city this human dynamo who not only talks integration but who practices it and who persuades the reluctant to join him.

And the thing about him is that he will probably sell more life memberships in a couple of days here than we have been able to sell in a couple of years!

ALCOHOLISM

ANOTHER little drink won't do us any harm!

That's the way of the boozy ballad. It is just that other little drink and more like it that does the harm. Nothing catastrophic happens when a person takes a drink of liquor. A small amount of whiskey is oxidized quickly by the liver into carbon dioxide and water. The cells lining the upper gastrointestinal tract, mouth, esophagus and stomach are given a quick lavage or irrigation.

Part of the liquor soaks into the lining of the blood vessels and cavities and dissipates itself by mixing with other fluids to be eventually oxidized. But as the imbibing goes on, the blood stream becomes saturated with alcohol, the feeling of stimulation gives way to a sort of anesthesia. That's the period referred to as "feeling no pain."

The body organs, brain, liver, heart, intestines, kidneys and skin are forced to act against this saturation dosage. The brain is numbed, the liver enlarges in an endeavor to cope with the overdose, the heart races, the kidneys try to eliminate the poison and the intestines show their allergy in the form of nausea.

A social drink on occasion presents no problem to millions of persons who are well adjusted and have control. Unfortunately, some five million Americans indulge in alcoholic beverages to the point which produces a changed state of mind, periodic or continual, with which they prefer to live. Ninety percent of alcoholics, from whatever strata of life, got that way because of feeling inadequate.

1—Reviewing Judas' History, Isa. 36-37

2—A Ruler's Prayer in Peril. Isa. 37:14-21

3—God's Secure Answer. sa. 37:33-35

1—Reviewing Judas' History

Senachib paid at least two visits to Judah the first in 701 B.C. when he besieged the total outlying country side of Judah laying her villages waste and carrying away many of her brightest youth captives and then coming right to the very gate of her Capital City Jerusalem for six (46) Cities were captured then and Hezekiah was placed under heavy tribute 11 King 18:13-15; sa. 36:1.

Later upon coming to the throne of Tirhakah of Egypt Senachib dispatched a large army to conquer Egypt and left his aide Rabshakah to persuade Judah to Capitulate. The Rabshakahs speech (Isa. 36:4-20) was an Ancient attempt at modern Psychological warfare. These psychological questions were hard for Judah to answer.

How can you expect help from Egypt who are nothing but a broken reed? How can you expect help from God when your king has destroyed all his worshiping places except the one at Jerusalem?

How can you expect to withstand Assyrias chariots when you have no chariots nor horseman? How? Thus jitters at the Big Chiefs Hezekiah and Judah were in works.

2—A Ruler's Prayer Amid Peril

The officers on the wall responded only with silence so the Rabshakah went back and reported to Senachib And Senachib sent a letter to Hezekiah and when Hezekiah received the letter. He read the message and went up into the house of the Lord and spread it before the Lord.

Do you know I don't think we know to well what to do with the Viet Cong. He is challenging us and our God. North China which ruled and backed by both Russia it seems are challenging our God and our faith in Him.

Just last week Peking threatened to back up Viet Cong and many of us trembled in our boots.

So Hezekiah went to church and took the whole matter up with His God. Now President Johnson is not the Ruler of this country. He is only a symbol of the Rulers. We the people are the Rulers and we need to go to the house of God to our own houses, to our factories, to our offices, to our homes and confess our own sins and beg our God for the peace of our world.

Is fat pay checks, black limousine, high rise apartments, swanky parties to be purchased at the risk of our sons in a melee like this. Hezekiah regarded this prayer and trust in God as Saving our God's Reputation in the spheres of history too. "Love us" Deliver us and prove to the ages who is God. This is it as Hezekiah prayed it. And this is it as 1966 History demands it now.

3—God's Secure Answer
God answered through Isaiah assuring Him "He shall not come into the City" vs 33 by the way he came by the same way he shall return vs 34. For I shall defend this city to save it for my own name sake. vs 35.

Lord Byron reveals in his Destruction of Senachib more graphically than I can God's Victory over Assyria.

Read it—Meditate and Believe and Act.

Byron on Senachib
Like the leaves of the forest when Summer is green,
That host with their banners at sunset was seen:

Like the leaves of tee forest when Autumn hath blown,
That host on the morrow lay withered and strewn.

"And the windows of Ashur are loud in their wall,
And the idols of the Gentile, unsmote by the sword,
Hath melted like snow in the glance of the Lord."

Singer Nancy Wilson wants chance in pix and B'way stage

In her current biography, Nancy Wilson is quoted as saying she'd like to tackle motion pictures and the Broadway theater.

Since the sultry vocalist has a habit of excelling in everything she undertakes, it seems likely that Hollywood and New York will beckon her within the foreseeable future.

At the moment, Miss Wilson need have no fear about unemployment. She's rated as the recording industry's top-selling female vocalist, quite a feat for a young lady and not like the wrong end of a castoff mop. Six years ago she signed a contract with Capitol Records and it has since resulted in the sale of $50 million worth of Nancy Wilson recordings.

Her latest showcase is scheduled for Sunday, October 9, on NBC-TV's "The Andy Williams Show," 10-11 P.M., EDT. It marks her second appearance on the program. Appearing with her will be Bobby Darin, Anthony Newley and Herb Shriner, so to Nancy Wilson falls the honor of being Andy's lone female guest that night.

She sings two songs, "Don't Go To Strangers" and "On A Clear Day," the latter a duet with Andy.

Nancy enjoys appearing on "The Andy Williams Show." "They showcase a performer properly," she said, "and that's important."

Nancy, who came to Los Angeles from Chillicothe and Columbus, Ohio via New York, has a busy future mapped out following her October 9 appearance on "The Andy Williams Show."

There's a 27-city concert tour, a European tour encompassing England, France, Italy, Spain and West Germany, a variety of supper club engagements and additional television guest appearances.

Basically an improvisational songstress, Nancy can slide from Broadway show tunes to ballads to jazz, whatever is dictated.

She started singing in church and continued it through high school and one year at Central State College.

Her entry into the professional ranks came early, as singing star of her own twice-weekly television show in Columbus, Ohio.

"Much of my experience was gained during two-and-a-half years of touring as vocalist with a dance band in the mid-West," she says.

Nancy moved on to New York in 1959, took a secretarial job at the New York Institute of Technology and sang on weekends at various nightclubs. The secretarial position soon became unnecessary and her career began to build.

She now calls Los Angeles her home. There is a husband, Kenny Dennis, a well-known drummer, and one son, Kenny Dennis, Jr.

Newly-formed jazz band to make its debut in Nov.

Two widely-known musicians announced this week the formation of a new jazz band under the leadership of Willis Kirk and Eldridge Morrison, and is expected to make its debut sometime in November.

The group has been in rehearsal since early in September and will continue thru October until it meets the exacting standards set by the two leaders. They feel that Indianapolis and the great Hoosier state need a fine jazz aggregation that can hold its own among the best in the nation.

And this is what Messrs. Kirk and Morrison intend to do. Give local music buffs a jazz aggregation they can be proud of.

Mr. Kirk, considered one of the top percussionists in this section of the country, has been praised for his ability on the drums by some of the leading jazzmen of the country and with whom he has been associated over the years, men like Wes Montgomery, Lionel Hampton, Mel Torme, Leroy Vigneron, J. J. Johnson, James Moody and many other giants in the entertainment world.

The newly-formed group will be mainly a concert jazz band, featuring some of Indianapolis' finest instrumentalists, Dave Young, Malcolm Lewis, including such top names as Jimmy McDaniels, Reg Duvalle, David Hardiman to name a few.

Mr. Morrison, a coorganizer of the new group, has many years experience in the musical field, having been featured with Earl Bostic, Tiny Bradshaw, Jimmie Coe and others. He conducted his own band (an integrated group) for many years.

He was responsible for Negroes being able to join the local of the American Federation of Musicians in the late 40's. Organizations or individuals interested in sponsoring a concert should contact Mr. Kirk at 283-2294.

Hues and Cries

CHICAGO — (NPI) — Dave Lambert, outstanding jazz innovator — founder of the famed Lambert, Hendricks and Ross vocal trio was accidentally killed last week when a trailer truck struck him on the Connecticut Turnpike. In the heyday of the trio, which disbanded in 1954, the bearded Lambert teamed with lyric writer and "riff" singer Jon Hendricks, and female vocalist Annie Ross.

"SISSY" SUIT

DETROIT — (NPI) — Rock 'n' roll singer "Little Richard" Peniman has filed a $1 million slander suit against a bondsman for referring to him as "a sissy" before some of his teen-filled in U. S. District court, the bondsman, Harry Goldfab, had age fans. According to the suit, referred to the entertainer as "a man lover, a sissy and a freak" as he argued with Rich about an alleged financial debt.

SUED FOR $100,000

NEW ORLEANS — (NPI) — Internationally famous trumpeter Louis Armstrong was sued for $100,000 recently by a man who claimed he was libeled in a book which Armstrong either wrote of caused to be written titled "Satchmo. My Life in New Orleans."

The plaintiff, Joe Segretto, claimed the book about Armstrong pictured him as having a "tough character who made a lot of money in a big prostitution business" in New Orleans' red light district.

STARS HINES

CHICAGO — (NPI) — Veteran jazz piano virtuoso Earl Hines "Fatha" Hines returned from a highly successful State Department - sponsored tour of Russia to open a three-week stand at the London House supper club. The recent winner of Down Beat's International Jazz Critics Hall of Fame contest, Hines has been described in Newsweek magazine as a pianist of the "propulsive, inventive . . . type."

NOTICE OF

Seven-Day Adventists have lowest death role

California men-members of a religious group which frowns on smoking had a much lower-than-average death rate during a recent four-year period.

Seventh-Day Adventist men in California had particularly low rates of respiratory disease — only one fourth the statewide average — says a report in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The 11,071 Seventh-Day Adventist men studied were similar to other California men, except that they had above-average incomes, were older than the average Californian, had much less exposure to tobacco — and had only half the expected death rate from all causes, including respiratory disease.

Between 1958 and 1962, 850 of these 11,000 men died but only 28 deaths were due to lung cancer or emphysema. (About 12 per cent of all male deaths in California are now due to respiratory illness, including malignancy.)

There was further "striking evidence" concerning these 28 deaths, the investigators said. Seventh-Day Adventists believe in abstaining from tobacco, and hold that continued tobacco use constitutes grounds for expulsion from the organization. Of the 28 men who died of lung cancer and emphysema, only one had been a lifelong SDA. The other 27 had long histories of smoking, and most were recent converts to the religious group. Among 3,913 lifelong SDA members who presumably had done little or no smoking, there was only one death from respiratory illness.

Authors of the report are Frank R. Lemon, M.D., and Richard T. Walden, M.D., of the Department of Preventive Medicine, School of Medicine, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, Calif.

There are some classes of disease in which SDA death

col which may decrease mortality risk among Seventh-Day Adventists.

"The SDAs tend to follow a modified vegetarian diet and to avoid tea and coffee," said Drs. Lemon and Walden. "They have outlined and promoted a way of life which includes adequate rest, recreation, exercise, avoidance of tension and worry, good hygiene, and prompt cooperation with medical care. We know of no way to measure the influence of such factors."

"We believe that the present report confirms in some degree the predication... that lung cancer would decline as a significant death risk if cigarette smoking ceased in the United States," the authors said.

"Our studies among SDAs lead us to the conclusion that male longevity in the United States would be significantly increased, with a corresponding decrease in morbidity and mortality and if cigarette smoking were to become an unacceptable social habit."

high batting average.

The Millionaires, under McKnight's playing and coaching prowess, earned further accolades when they won a split victory in a two-game series against the Canadian Swift Current Indians, winning the opener 14-5.

McKnight was responsible for 37 hits during the regular league games, collecting four hits and two homers in one game. The young baseball star's potentials were discovered when he played on South Bend's Central high school team.

Manager Walt Alston, cool and collected, tinged his post-game comments with irony. Someone asked if perhaps his Dodgers were completely exhausted from the close finish of the National League race.

"Maybe," he said bitterly, "but I don't think that had any effect on the sun. When you're not doing anything right, you look bad. I must admit I never saw too many games like this one. When you get only four hits and make six errors, you can hardly expect to win."

Asked about Sandy Koufax, Alston said, "I thought Sandy had good stuff early in the game. He was getting the curve ball over. Yes, I would say he was hurting a bit when I took him out after the sixth inning."

"My control was off," said the equally calm Koufax. "Yes, I did talk to Willie Davis after those three errors."

"Sandy sure did," chimed in Willis. "About three or four of us went down the dugout runway and talked to Willie. Sandy put his arm around him and said, 'Don't let it bother you. Those things happen.'"

"The nice thing," said Willie Davis, "is how my teammates were behind me. I was angry at myself and I was disgusted. But Sandy and the rest of the guys are great — and not only because they're ballplayers. They taught me something today about compassion."

REPEAT PERFORMANCE: Dodger centerfielder Willie Davis, who had just dropped one fly ball, does it again on Andy Etchebarren's fifth-inning fly in the second game of the World Series. Davis picked up the ball and made a wild throw, to establish a series record of three errors in one inning.

Private Agency's place in poverty war is Bayh's topic

Senator Birch Bayh will address the Indianapolis Post, Volunteers of America, Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Christian Theological Seminary during its 70th anniversary celebration.

His topic is "The Place of the Private Agency in the War on Poverty." He is a member of the advisory board of the Terre Haute Post, Volunteers of America.

Arrangements for the dinner-meeting were made by Louis Kirkhoff, president; James Schell, vice-president and Appellate Judge Thomas Falconer, members of the Indianapolis advisory board.

Dinner reservations may be made by telephoning Volunteers of America headquarters, 442 Capitol. 635-4545.

Indianapolis' post is one of the oldest posts in America and was among the first established by Gen. and Mrs. Ballington Booth when the non-denominational and charitable organization formed in 1896.

Major William P. Altman, executive director, and a staff of 11 people carry out the post's broad program or religiously based community help.

Projects include Theodora House, for unwed mothers; a men's home, school children's clothing program, rehabilitation program, salvage program, emergency assistance for families, Sunset Club for Senior Citizens and a family counseling service. Volunteers of America is a United Fund Agency.

Sabrina Northington

Services for Miss Sabrina Lynn Northington, 11, 3115 Washington Blvd., were held October 5 in Jacobs Brothers Westside Chapel. The child died of cerebral palsy October 2 in her home. She had been a victim of the disease most of her life.

Her health limited her to one grade at Crossroads and Roberts schools. Miss Northington was confined to a wheel chair. Her favorite diversion was listening to music.

Sabrina was a member of Universal Church of Truth.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry; two sisters, Cheryl and Stephanie, and two brothers, Rodger and Bret.

directors of community relations units in 20 major municipal police departments, plus directors of the human relations agencies in 10 of these cities.

A CONCRETE product of the workshop will be a handbook for national circulation, produced by the participants in each workshop, and reflecting their findings, conclusions and recommendations relative to the focus of the particular workshop.

Lt. Coates joined the department in April of 1947 and was promoted to his present title in the internal security division in January of last year.

Before being assigned to the security section, he was a detective sergeant in the detective branch where he handled burglary and larceny investigations. A graduate of the St. Louis (Mo) Police Academy, he had attended two other workshops at Michigan State and the New York Practising Law Institute.

He is a member of the National Association of Intergroup Relations and was on a televised panel discussion presented by the group in Chicago last year. He has given numerous lectures throughout the state for the State Attorney General's Office and the Indiana Civil Rights Commission.

Authorities from other cities, including Selma, Ala., have visited him from time to time to see how the Indianapolis organization is set up.

He represented the local department in the National Association of Chiefs of Police convention held here recently.

Race Issue

sought to pin the Administration label on Democratic contenders in efforts to discredit them.

In Waukegan, Ill., which has been hit by racial outbreaks, Mayor Robert V. Sabonjian announced he would run as a write-in candidate for U. S. senator in November.

The mayor, who has blamed the NAACP for racial rioting in his city and referred to the rioters as "winos, junkheads, and Scum," and he opposed the 1966 Civil Rights Bill and open occupancy—though he lives in an integrated neighborhood.

His candidacy was deplored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who indicated that Sabonjian would be patrons from his eatery at the point of a gun, then declared that "God is my campaign manager."

Maddox is remembered as the owner of a whites-only restaurant who drove out Negro would-be patrons from his eatery at the point of a gun, then declared that "God is my campaign manager."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a native of Atlanta, warned that Maddox's candidacy could spark an all-out race war.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles Longstreet Weltner (D-Ga.), gave up the Democratic nomination for a third term in Congress rather than uphold a party loyalty oath that would have required him to support Maddox. "I cannot compromise with hate," said Weltner, who called Maddox "the one whan in our state who exists as the very symbol of violence and oppression."

Weltner said he could not violate his oath to support party candidates. "But I cannot violate my principles either," he added.

Meanwhile, Atty. J. C. Daugherty, state Democratic representative from District 134, said that he could not support Maddox "under any circumstances."

"I cannot see how any Negro could support him in good conscience," Daugherty said.

At the same time, a write-in campaign began in Georgia in opposition to the candidacy of Maddox and his equally conservative Republican opponent, Rep. Howard H. Callaway.

A write-in candidate will be decided shortly, said State Sen. Leroy Johnson, a leader of the write-in movement, made up of liberal whites and Negroes.

In California, the "white backlash" became a major issue in the governor's race—especially after the San Francisco riots.

Particularly at issue was the Rumford Fair Housing act, repealed by a state referendum and then upheld by the state supreme court.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Ronald Reagan was making political hay by urging the act's repeal. His opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, was forced to the position of calling for a bipartisan study of the act. Reagan spokesman said a spot check showed the former actor was likely to be supported widely by whites opposing the fair housing law and welfare payments to minority group members, even though Reagan has been largely silent on these matters.

Compounding the turmoil over the race issue was the formation of a "New left" political movement in Los Angeles.

The movement, which is considering formation of a new third party, has come out for black power and construction of Negro housing in "middle income environments."

In Montgomery, Ala., Gov. George C. Wallace was looking to the white backlash to provide the backbone for a third-party effort designed to put him in the White House.

Wallace was studying the fate of segregationist candidates in the November elections to determine whether he would launch his nation-wide racist campaign in 1968.

Meanwhile, in Boston, Republican Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke complained that the race issue was too dominant in his campaign for a U. S. Senate seat.

Brooke, the nation's highest ranking Negro official on a state level, seeks to become the first Negro in the U. S. Senate since Reconstruction days.

But he doesn't like it put that way, "I get very tired," he said,

BANANAS FOR U.S. TROOPS: Vietnamese children try to sell bananas to members of the 25th U.S. Infantry Division in the Mekong Delta province of Long An, about 25 miles southwest of Saigon. Troops of the 25th have traveled farthest south among U.S. units in Viet Nam.

GOSPEL SINGER'S WRIST FRACTURED: Miss Mahalia Jackson, the "world's greatest gospel singer," reports to Dr. Walter McDonald last week for examination of her fractured wrist. She fractured her left arm several weeks ago when she tripped over a microscope stand during a Los Angeles recording session. Her home is in Chicago.

"of being called the first Negro this or the highest Negro that." The race issue, he complained, "clouds my purpose for running, even my programs and proposals. It seems to take precedence over the candidates themselves."

Edith Greenlee

Last rites for Mrs. Edith Greenlee, 831 Eugene, were held October 6 in Patton Funeral Home. She died October 3 in a nursing home.

Flora Lockridge

Rites for Mrs. Flora M. Lockridge, 63, 2119 Wendell Avenue, were held October 8 in Jacobs Brothers Westside Chapel. Burial was in Flora Park Cemetery.

She died October 5 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Donaldson, 453 West 26th Street. She was born in Portland, Tenn., and had lived here 15 years.

In addition to a daughter, survivors include the husband, Robert Lockridge; a son, James Sarver of Detroit; a sister, Mrs. Etta Purdue of Indianapolis, and five grandchildren.

IN NIGERIA: Rev. Robert E. Penn, pastor of First Baptist Church of Gary, is guest lecturer this month at Pilgrim Baptist Teacher Training College of Nigeria, West Africa.

12 models in Cadillac line for 1967

Highlighting the 12 model Cadillac line-up for 1967 is all new styling, unexcelled safety, comfort and convenience features and a completely new luxury personal car—the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado.

Calvin J. Werner, Cadillac Motor Car Division general manager and General Motors vice president, said that the 1967 Cadillacs will be on display in dealer showrooms.

"Safety has always received primary consideration at Cadillac and this year is no exception," Mr. Werner said. "Prominent among the product improvements related to safety is an energy-absorbing steering column. The wheel deflects under severe body impact and cushions the driver against a padded surface inside the circumference of the wheel. At the same time the impact collapses a section of the steering column."

The new Eldorado is distinguished as the only car in the world offering the mutually complementary features of front-wheel-drive, variable ratio steering and automatic level control as standard equipment. This model is being built on its own special assembly line at Cadillac's Detroit plant.

Length of the Eldorado is 221 inches, its height is 53.3 inches, its wheelbase is 120 inches. Other models retain their 1965 dimensions.

The front view of standard models is fresh in concept but retains a traditional Cadillac flavor with the cross-hatch grille design and vertically mounted twin headlamps. A broad, bold look is achieved with wider spacing of the grille elements.

The new silhouette gives the car a longer appearance. A powerful horizontal design line sweeps the entire length of the car—emphasizing length and a cultured look. A distinctive new roof structure is exclusive to the two and four-door hard-top models.

Highlighting the rear view is a completely new bumper and taillight configuration. All lighting functions are housed in the vertical bumper outlines which provide positive nighttime Cadillac identification.

Tailored lines dominate the styling theme of Cadillac's five-passenger Eldorado. A long hood, distinctive roof, and short rear deck set the character for Cadillac's new personal luxury car. Its appearance is dignified, but youthful, with a roof design reminiscent of a formal opera coupe and full-wheel openings that give a sporty flair.

Front ventianes are eliminated to aid the clean-appearing side view. The rear windows slide back into the roof structure.

The front view features a traditional cross-hatch grille. Concealed twin headlamps rigidly mounted behind the outer ends of the grille are revealed when the vacuum-operated grille covers swing down. Incorporated in the bumper are rectangular parking lamps.

In the rear view, tail lamps are designed into the trailing edge of the rear fenders and are split vertically by a slender bar finished in chrome and body color. Back-up lamps are fitted into the rear bumper.

Additional product improvements related to safety include a red warning light on the dash panel to indicate any malfunction of the dual power brake system.

The upper portion of the all-new instrument panel is fully padded and all controls have been relocated, recessed and padded.

The turn signal control is redesigned with two functions including a new lane-change signal which activates when the lever is held in place and shuts off when released. This was incorporated to eliminate direction lights remaining on after moving into another lane. The second function is the normal signal for a turn and it cancels automatically after the turn is completed.

All models feature a hazard-warning signal which flashes all four directional lights in case of emergency.

Bassist Leroy Vinnegar
returns to Indianapolis

Indianapolis' own Leroy Vinnegar, nationally-renowned jazz bassist, was in town this week for the first time since leaving for the West Coast 11 years

Vinnegar, who is a regular member of the Les McCann crew, is currently visiting his mother, Mrs. Helen V. Esters, 3228 N. College.

He is scheduled to open with McCann in Detroit at Baker's Keyboard Lounge sometime next week, and then on to Chicago and New York, among other cities until completing a five-month tour on the jazz circuit.

Before leaving, however, he says he plans to do a set with his old friend and fellow musician, Erroll Grady, who is now playing at the Carousel, 2162 N. Meridian.

"I owe so much to this man," Vinnegar said, recalling the days of old when the two played together. "I've just got to do one set with him while I'm in town."

While a resident here, Vinnegar played with such jazz notables as Buddy Parker, whose trio is playing at the Carousel; Dave Baker, and the late Carl Perkins.

Nationally, he has played with such greats as Sonny Stitt, Sonny Rollins, Shelley Mann, Andre Previn and the Jazz Crusaders, whose latest album release, "The Jazz Crusaders Live at the Lighthouse—1966," features Vinnegar on bass.

While in California, he was under contract, playing background music for ABC's, "The Nelson Family." He has toured Europe and Japan extensively. He has scheduled his "set" at the Carousel for Thursday night (Oct. 13).

Old Taylor Presents: Ingenious Americans

Granville T. Woods (1856-1910)

His inventions helped chickens to hatch and trains to stop.

It's hard to believe that a man who never completed an elementary education patented over thirty-five electrical and mechanical inventions. Yet Granville T. Woods did just that.

Woods went to work when he was 10 years old and literally learned his skills on the job. In his early thirties he became interested in thermal power and steam-driven engines. And, in 1889, he filed his first patent application on an improved steam-boiler furnace. He then invented an electric incubator in 1900. And in the next three years he patented a series of advances in the development of air brakes. This was just the beginning. Woods invented fifteen appliances for electric railways. The greatest of these was a telegraph system that enabled moving trains to communicate with each other.

Woods went on to organize the Woods Electrical Company. And, in later years, he succeeded in selling a number of his inventions to several of our country's largest corporations.

Granville T. Woods will be remembered as an ingenious American and a prolific inventor.
